

Mallards Fly in the City

Flocks of mallards are swimming. This is the Taedong River in Pyongyang, the capital of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, free from air pollution and water pollution, difficult problems facing the world.